A Place To Get Advice On Power Tools

(NAPS)—Know the drill. That's good advice for power tool users. So good in fact that a club, the Heavy Duty Club, has been formed to help tool users nail down the latest on tools and tool use. Sponsored by Milwaukee Electric Tool Corporation, the organization is committed to helping professional tool users by offering tool tips, selection advice, tool forums and the opportunity to win tools.

An online club offers power tool users tips, selection advice and chances to win tools.

Heavy-duty tool users can register for free by logging onto the Web site www.heavydutytool.com, or through a membership form. Members can exchange information on the club's bulletin board and review tool testimonials, magazine articles, tool and accessory spotlights, user surveys, and racing gear and other merchandise. The site also features ongoing news about Milwaukee #14 NASCAR Race Truck driven by Rick Crawford. In addition, members can store information on all of their tools in "My Tool Box" and register their Milwaukee tools online.

A newsletter is also sent to all members, bi-monthly, featuring the same information and special product offers for members without Internet access. Membership forms are available by calling 1-877-729-3878.
