

All-Natural Mosquito Repellent Patch

(NAPSA)—Mosquitoes, a pest that thrives in the warm, humid days of summer, have become even more of a threat in recent years since the outbreak of West Nile Virus. Fortunately, there's now a way to keep “skeeters” at bay without potentially toxic chemicals.

With an all-natural patch, you can prevent mosquitoes from putting the bite on you this summer.

Lanco Research LLC has introduced an all-natural, DEET-free mosquito repellent patch called the “Skeeter Defense Patch.” It is being marketed as the first truly effective, natural mosquito repellent. The patch, which contains micro-encapsulated citronella oil, can be stuck anywhere: picnic tables, lawn chairs, clothing—even your skin.

The patch has been clinically proven to be safe and effective at the London School of Tropical Medicine. It is safe for the entire family, even infants and children.

The Skeeter Defense Patch is available in food, drug and natural health outlets; by calling 877-367-6853; or via the Internet at www.skeeterdefense.com.
