

FAMILY VACATIONS

(NAPSA)—Family vacations don't have to be a lot of work—but a family's special needs, such as nearby child facilities and programs with children's activities, can sometimes make it seem that way. Fortunately, there are family-friendly destinations all over the world—you just need to know where to look.

A series of travel books from Frommer's can help. It highlights family-friendly destinations in different states and countries. Here's a look at some of its top picks:

- Room With A View—Chatham Bars Inn is the last of the grand oceanfront hotels on Cape Cod. It has excellent service and a wonderful family vibe.

- Paradise Found—In Hawaii, Four Seasons Hualalai at Historic Ka'upulehu offers a luxurious vacation, complete with child programs, teen activities and child-friendly restaurants.

- Safe Bet—Circus Circus in Las Vegas offers free circus acts and a huge indoor amusement park. It can be a great family destination.

- The Big Apple—Le Parker Meridien in New York City is a chic hotel that is kid-friendly. Children receive coloring books on arrival, the elevators play cartoons and kids can borrow Razor scooters from the front desk.

- Travel Abroad—The Welcomgroup Mughal Sheraton in Agra, India has an amusement park and plenty of nannies to help out parents. Cancun's El Pueblito is a luxury resort complete with miniature golf course, water slide, kids activities and baby-sitters.
