Find The Right Gift Online

(NAPSA)—The Web can be a valuable resource for finding gift ideas and buying them without leaving your home. Online sellers like Amazon.com offer helpful gift suggestions for different interest areas such as gardening and cooking. Yahoo Shopping enables you to shop for gifts across thousands of online merchants.

Surprise.com suggests gift ideas.

If you really want to get creative, try Surprise.com which suggests gift ideas for 342 different types of people in categories such as Always Cold, Krispy Kreme Maniac, Unusual Sense of Humor, and Lives In A Small Apartment. Each category has suggestions from users who share what's worked for them. Once you find the right gift idea, you can click on links to online merchants who offer that product or service. For example, in the Works Too Much category, you'll find "Maid Service" with links to places that sell gift certificates for maid service.

Surprise.com, which was named one of the "Best 50 sites on the Web" by Time magazine is easy to use and helps put you in a creative mood.
