A little holiday magic for many gift givers can come in the form of a new gaming system.

Many shoppers are solving their dilemma by choosing Nintendo's Wii U home console. The new Wii U console comes with two great games starring Mario and Luigi, all at a suggested retail price of $299.99. Wii U has a vast selection of exclusive family-friendly experiences like the online gaming community Miiverse and Nintendo TVii—both included at no extra charge.

Wii U has a big library of high-def games, plus Wii U can play most of your old Wii games using the same Wii controllers and accessories. And the Wii U GamePad controller even has its own screen, which means one person can play select games on the GamePad, even if someone else is watching something on TV. Wii U offers outstanding value and variety for holiday shoppers.
