Finding Travel Inspiration

(NAPSA)—If choosing a destination is the biggest challenge in planning your vacation, a new site may offer just the inspiration you need to embark on your next trip.

Vacation Revelation—Can't decide where to go? The Inspiration Finder™ feature on the site, TravelMuse.com, enables travelers to quickly discover destinations that match their personal preferences and needs.

Simplify trip planning by gathering destination research online and sharing your plans securely with family members and friends.

Crowd Pleaser—The Inspiration Finder considers multiple dimensions of travel information including budget, ages of travelers, maximum travel distance and preferred vacation activities to quickly identify best-fit destinations. A tool that provides this kind of research for you makes it easy to satisfy all the travelers in your group, simplifies planning and saves time.

Netflix of Travel—The TravelMuse Planner lets you build a list of places you want to go and network with friends so you can collaborate on travel plans. After you take the trip of a lifetime, you can use the site to share your experiences and perhaps inspire other travelers.
