Hard-To-Find Items

(NAPSA)—Many people swear by certain beauty products or over-the-counter medications, or have found new ones they want to try. Not all these items, however, may be easily available. Fortunately, there's an online store that specializes in customer service by phone or e-mail. To make sure you always have your favorite brands, be sure to:

1. Mark your calendar so you know when to order the products you need, whether it's on a monthly, quarterly or seasonal basis. The online store stocks thousands of brands, and with "My Product List" you can track the products you buy for easy reorder.

Is your favorite medicine hard to find? Not anymore.

2. Call in your order or e-mail it. The customer service people can help you find out what they have for your needs or find a new product. If you've never heard of what your mother or child asked for, they will help figure it out.

3. Save packing time and send products where needed, such as summer camp, your weekend cabin or your parents' home across the country.

Products range from home health equipment and vitamins to skin care and pet care. The Web site also offers a diabetes resource center. For product information or to order, call (888) 796-4832 or visit www.hardtfindbrands.com.
