

Holiday Happiness

Here's how it works: One hundred percent of the net profits, up to $100,000, from the sale of Kiehl's 6th Annual Limited Edition Creme de Corps Holiday Collection of items in special packaging featuring the painting go to go to Feeding America (www.feedingamerica.org), the nation's leading domestic hunger-relief charity. The donation will provide families with a million meals this holiday season.

A charming Norman Rockwell scene enhances holiday gifts whose purchase will help provide 1 million meals to families.

The collection comes in a box and bottles decorated with the Rockwell scene and includes three sizes of Creme de Corps body treatment and one of Creme de Corps Soy Milk & Honey Whipped Body Butter. Also, there's a charitable Limited Edition Kiehl's Greatest Hits Collection, a gift box that includes an assortment of Kiehl's most iconic products, including Creme de Corps and Ultra Facial Cream.

These holiday gifts are all at Kiehl's freestanding stores, at www.kiehls.com/Norman-Rockwell, (800) KIEHLS-2 and select specialty retailers. To help hungry children, go to www.feedingamerica.org.
