

Living Large In The Living Room ®

(NAPSA)—There aren't any hard-and-fast rules in terms of room arrangements and décor ideas—even in the living room. But a few guidelines will help you create a comfortable and inviting atmosphere in a room of any style. Chloe Warner, a rising star interior designer whose work can be found in some of San Francisco's finest homes and restaurants, was recently featured in Domino magazine. Here she shares some of her living room design and modern décor tips:

- Instead of one major pendant fixture, try grouping three smaller fixtures (Warner recommends the Moooi Non Random Lights found at www.ylighting.com) at different heights over a table or in a foyer. This will illuminate while creating a dynamic, less conventional space.

- A pair of sconces flanking a sofa is a terrific way to create a sense of symmetry and order.

- Use statement chandeliers in rooms where the furniture is simple.

- Keep in mind the purpose of the lamp for the room and adjust it accordingly. Will you be using it for a mere accent or a specific purpose like reading, entertaining or relaxing? The lighting effect varies with the number, type and wattage of bulbs and the shade material.

- Playful and daring, the Capri #2 lamp by Jonathan Adler (available at www.croftandlittle.com) is Chloe's pick for adding an affordable splash of color to a room.

- Use two different types of chairs that share a common element to keep the effect from becoming too busy—a daring combination would be six black Ero/S/Swivel Chairs and two Mademoiselle Chairs in Dolce & Gabbana's leopard-print silk upholstery with black frame, both available at www.zwello.com.
