

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Many Families Go “Bats” Over Vampire Films

(NAPSA)—Many families are looking for fun they can sink their teeth into. Now with the video release of The Little Vampire movie, starring Jonathan Lipnicki, they don't have to look far.

The Little Vampire movie is coming to video stores. Based on characters created by Angela Sommer-Bodenburg, whose The Little Vampire novels have been adored for more than 25 years, the film will prove to be very popular with the “undead” set.

The film is the story of an American boy (played by Lipnicki) who moves with his family to the sprawling Scottish countryside, where he makes friends with a family of vampires whose one wish is to become human.

The DVD is said to feature cool extras with a real “bite” including three animated menu-based games, jokes and recipes.

The legend of vampires was developed well before the discovery of vampire bats in the New World. Bram Stoker was so fascinated by the finding of these bats that drank blood, that he incorporated them into his classic book Dracula in 1897. The Dracula mythology has inspired a vast subculture.

The Little Vampire flies onto store shelves for $24.98 on DVD and for $19.96 on VHS.

For more information on The Little Vampire, you can log onto www.littlevampiremovie.com.

Little Vampires mean big fun for many fans.

Meanwhile, take a flyer at answering these vampire riddles:

How do vampires get around?
In their bloodmobiles.

What do you call a dog owned by Dracula? A blood hound.

What's a vampire's favorite feast? Fangsgiving Day dinner.

What is Dracula's position in baseball? Batboy.

What would you get if you crossed Count Dracula with a computer? Love at first byte!

What is the little vampire's favorite movie? The Vampire Strikes Back.