Massage Away Holiday Stress, With Lotion

(NASPA)—Instead of decking the halls, many people find themselves climbing the walls during the holiday season—stress resulting from too much to do and not enough time to get it all done.

But here's the rub: It's possible to massage away all that tension with a new device that combines heat and lotion for a unique, skin-nourishing home spa experience. There are numerous reasons why you (or someone on your gift-giving list) might need to soak up the relaxing and soothing effects of a massager:

1. Your back is sore after hours of bending over the table and wrapping presents.

2. Your in-laws are staying for three weeks.

3. You threw out your shoulder trying to cut through Aunt Ethel's fruitcake.

4. It took you nearly an hour to find a parking spot at the mall.

5. Your attempt to put up the Christmas tree turned into a wrestling match—and you lost.

6. Your kids convinced you to go ice skating with them.

7. You got a crick in your neck looking up at the mistletoe.

8. Cold, icy winter winds have made your skin as dry as a Gila monster.

9. The outdoor lights are finally up, and it only took you five hours and three extra bulbs.

10. You can't remember the order of gifts in "The Twelve Days of Christmas."
