

New Book <sup>TM</sup>

(NAPS)—“Clearing the Air,” describes the policies and politics of what we might expect from the Bush Administration. Widely respected among Republicans, “free market environmentalism” is anticipated to be the new strategy implemented by a Bush EPA.

“Clearing the Air” documents Becky Dunlop’s tenure as Secretary of Natural Resources for the state of Virginia. For four years, Becky Norton Dunlop worked to improve air and water quality in her state and others while battling Carol Browner, Vice President Albert Gore, and the Environmental Protection Agency.

“This is a great state government book,” says Alexis de Tocqueville Institution President Ken Brown. “It offers a positive alternative—and shows how new approaches can bring about environmental improvement.”

For more information, visit www.adti.net.