

New Web Site Gives Quick Custom Vacations

(NAPSA)—Within a few minutes, travelers can now obtain a wide range of online custom European and Latin American holidays from a new service. It's the only available travel Web site that allows users to build their own custom vacation and get a package price.

This new, comprehensive online travel service offers vacationers airline, hotel, rental car, rail, other guided or independent city tours, lake or river steamer segments and other package components—plus research, availability and pricing options. You can start planning your vacation on the site — design your own vacation or search for one of the many packages already built. Set your preferences and within minutes your price quote appears.

In addition to all airlines, the site offers users 115 European, South American, and Mexican destinations, 1,600 three and four-star hotels and multiple rental car companies. It's been called total choice control at your fingertips: you build your own itinerary, customize an existing package or select a pre-set package. Everything from visiting Mayan ruins to vineyards in France to a German Christmas or Indian markets in Ecuador can be readily accessed on the site.

It's a product of Rail Europe Group (now expanding to many Central and South American destinations), an established travel company that each year provides more than a million North Americans with diversified travel products. For quick custom vacations, see the Web site: e-vacations.com.
