

NFL Pro Bowl In Hawaii

(NAPSA)—The excitement, the action and Waikiki's many attractions draw visitors from all over the world for a unique event: the annual NFL Pro Bowl.

The All-Star game, held the week after the Super Bowl, pits the best players from the AFC against those of the NFC. Fans, players and coaches vote to determine the roster. This season's game is scheduled for February 8, 2009.

A vacation with airfare, hotel accommodations, tickets to the game and the VIP NFL Pro Bowl Tailgate Party, airport and stadium transfers, plus special concierge services can be quite reasonable.

To celebrate the end of the football season and beat the winter blues, you can head to Hawaii for the NFL Pro Bowl.

NFL Pro Bowl packages can even be upgraded with premium game tickets, better accommodations, low-priced first-class airfare and tickets to the official NFL VIP party.

For additional information and reservations on Pleasant Holidays' NFL Pro Bowl packages, visit PleasantHolidays.com/probowl, call (800) 837-5999 or see a travel professional. Pleasant Holidays is an official fan travel package provider of the 2009 Pro Bowl in Hawaii. The NFL accepts only VISA for payment of the Pro Bowl packages.