On-The-Go Fashion: Travel Essentials

(NAPSA)—Few travelers want to haul large suitcases or pull out the iron when they reach their destination and now you don't have to. A new collection of mix-and-match, easy-travel pieces has ruled out wrinkles and eliminated bulky bags, making it the perfect travel companion.

Fashion icon Norma Kamali, known for designing apparel that's functional, practical and beautiful, has developed a unique collection for Spiegel Catalog. Norma Kamali Timeless, built around four convertible pieces, is an unbelievably versatile and undeniably chic collection. Each convertible piece becomes many different styles—from tops to skirts to dresses—and mixes with every other piece in this collection.

"You can wear them short and sexy and cute and sweet, or you can wear them to work and be demure," says Kamali.

Versatility is key in any travel wardrobe. What makes this collection unique is the marriage of ingenious design and easy-care, wrinkle-free fabric. "You can travel with four or five pieces that easily roll up in a carry-on and you are ready to go," suggests

The entire collection, priced between $29 and $89, is a mini-wardrobe of comfortable silhouettes that mix and match, yet each piece is exceptional on its own. The fabric feels like silk—lightweight and sensual—and comes in midnight, taupe, black and dark red.
