

Party Planning Tips

Party Animals—With Class And Cuteness

(NAPSA)—The next time someone you care about is celebrating a birthday, anniversary, graduation or any day, you can enliven the festivities by introducing one of these adorable, floral party animals.

Puppies and Kitties and Bees and Bears, Oh My

Rover wants to play at your birthday party.

Another Year Rover. Ready to party till the dogs come home, with his adorable party hat and horns, he's surrounded by a mix of cheerful, colorful blooms to deliver your best wishes for another year filled with smiles.

Party Pooch's keepsake box can help you remember the fun for the year to come.

Party Pooch. This festive Fido is popping out of a keepsake gift box container designed by inspirational artist Sandra Magsamen. "I love that this box looks beautiful with flowers," she says, "but it can be used on a dresser, kitchen counter or bedside table and cherished for years to come."

Pretty kitty can make any day the cat's meow.

Purrfect Party Cat. This kitty is handcrafted from crisp white carnations and surrounded by a mix of colorful blooms, creating a unique 3-D design. Arriving in a charming handled basket and ready to celebrate—accented with a party hat and colorful curling ribbon—this whimsical whiskered pal is the "purrfect" pick for wishing someone special a day full of fun, no matter what age he or she is turning.

Cool pup wonders how old you are in dog years.

Cool Pup. Sporting his coolest shades and ready to brighten smiles, he's handcrafted from crisp white carnations and surrounded by a mix of colorful blooms inside a dog bed basket.

Birthday beary keeps you from feeling grizzly about your age.

Birthday Beary. If you can't bear the thought of sending an ordinary birthday gift, try a festive party bear handcrafted from a mix of crisp white blooms and yellow cushion poms, creating a unique 3-D design. Arriving inside a charming handled basket and ready to celebrate—complete with a party hat, bow and colorful ribbon—this cute cub is a great way to wish someone a very happy day.

This arrangement is sweeter than honey from the bees.

Honey Bee. Everybody's buzzing about this artistically handcrafted arrangement of bright yellow cushion poms and black ribbons. This fun honey can "bee" the sweetest way to make somebody smile. Arriving inside a charming handled basket complete with lavender daisy poms and orange spray roses, it's a playful surprise to send for the moments that matter most.

Each of these unique creations is arranged with long-lasting blooms to add more life to birthday parties and make any celebratory occasion—or just because—more fun. To send a smile to your favorite animal lovers, call 1-800-FLOWERS, click www.1800flowers.com, or visit a retail store. To find one nearby, visit florist.1800flowers.com.

The florist continues to innovate with the help of floral artisans across the country. For over 40 years, they've made special holidays and everyday occasions unforgettable with one-of-a-kind arrangements and treasured gifts you can share with all the special people (and animals) in your life.