

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Quiz Shows Unwrapped

(NAPSA)—Trend watchers say one of this year's hottest gifts helps people unlock their inner genius—and their inner star.

It's a video game that turns players into game-show contestants as they face off against each other, fielding questions adapted for all ages and spanning from history and geography to nature, sports, music, cinema, entertainment and general knowledge.

A new game lets players compete on a TV quiz show.

Called “TV Show King Party” from Gameloft and available for Nintendo Wii, players join the fun using their Wii remotes in unique ways to illuminate shadowed answers, reveal obscured answers, spin prize wheels and much more. Plus, players can use their “Mii Avatars” (personalized animated versions of themselves) when they play.

Perhaps best of all, though, the game is designed to provide a real TV-set atmosphere right in the living room—complete with a sympathetic and challenging 3-D animated host assisted by colorful secondary characters.
