

Hints For The Home

Soul Chair, Cinema Seating, Bean Bag

(NAPSA)—If you're looking for seating that sums up what's important to you, pull up a chair. Today's designers offer a wide variety of seats—from cinema seating to chairs for the soul to funky, flexible bean chairs.

Cinema Seating

If you like home theater, you may find yourself standing in line for cinema seating. Designer Pasquale Natuzzi studied the seating required for an ultimate movie experience and came up with an armchair system, made of center chairs that connect with left or right end chairs. This system can be expanded to fit the audience.

"To have this cinema seating is to bring the cinema into your home in style and comfort," said Natuzzi.

Special attention has been paid to the foam support of the seat and back to provide the expected comfort. To enhance the experience, a shiatsu massage mechanism can be added to one or all of the chairs. A touch pad control for each chair puts viewers in charge of their own comfort. An optional table with reading light speaks to the way consumers use a reclining chair.

Chairs For The Soul

Reflect, ponder or mediate, a collection of "soul" chairs from Natuzzi beckon you to recline and relax.

A Calming Chair with Leg

New chair designs offer seating features that range from the luxurious to the fun and funky.

Rests delivers adjustable comfort through a three-stage auto-positioning mechanism that responds to a gentle push from the occupant. A Chaise Lounge reinterprets the classic chaise longue. It's adjustable back folds forward for precise ergonomic repositioning in four stages, including fully reclined. Simple tufting provides even distribution of the feather filling. The cocoon-like Dormeuse supports the spine and elevates the legs, promoting better circulation. A Swivel Lounge lets you swivel freely with your feet up.

Bean Bagging It

Today's new lifestyles have insured the return of the portable Poof, Cube, Ottoman and Bean Bags. These comfortable pieces in suede and microfiber can add interesting texture and shapes to any living space. Fun, funky and flexible, these pieces are designed for comfort.
