The Card Of Champions

(NAPSA)—Sure, memorabilia from some of the NBA's top stars can be pricey, but that doesn't mean you have to drop a lot of cash to make a sports fan happy.

"There just weren't many affordable options out there until now," says Darren Lee of Print Fair, a digital print specialist that just teamed up with the NBA and Getty Images to offer a line of very cool, customized greeting cards suitable for various occasions.

You can custom-make your own NBA-themed greeting card.

At www.nba.com/greetingcards, you can choose from any team and any glossy action photo—Boston Celtics' Paul Pierce dunking in The Finals, say, or Denver Nuggets' Allen Iverson in mid-finger roll—and then select messages for both the inside and outside of the card.

Plus, the finished product is printed and mailed in a special NBA envelope within 24 hours. And yes, there are plenty of shots of players like KG, Kobe, Shaq and more to choose from, too.
