Tips On Making A “Spectacle” Of Yourself

(NAPS)—Eyewear used to be very conservative, but now there are options galore so you can get the glasses that best fit your life and style. Here’s what to look for:

Today’s eyewear offers numerous fashionable options.

Lenses can act as a fashion statement. How about a colorful tint, or mirror coatings? Want a hot colored lens, but can’t decide which color? Try a dual color gradient tint and get the best of both worlds. Be sure to insist on 100 percent UV protection to defend yourself from the sun’s harmful rays.

Eyewear comes in all colors, in both metal and plastic frames. Classic looks, such as the popular tortoise shell, are being updated with hip colors and laminates. A two- or three-color laminate is a great way to update basic black frames.

Once a subtle look, rimless glasses have evolved into a bold fashion statement. Lenses can be made with fancy etchings or beveled edges for decoration. Add a colorful lens tint, and you will be sure to turn heads.
