

Gift Ideas

Tough Times Deserve Great Gifts

(NAPSA)—Here's food for thought: Food may be one of the very best gifts you can give during tough economic times.

No matter how tough the times are, it's fun to come up with clever gift ideas, and one place to find them is www.figis.com. The site features gifts in good taste for every occasion and budget—from holidays to baby gifts to birthdays.

A gift basket full of delicious food items makes a practical, thoughtful and much-appreciated gift.

From the personalized Peanut Butter Pie to the Cranberry Baklava to the Adventures in Cheese cheese-of-the-month clubs, there's something to satisfy a variety of cravings. There are individual gifts such as breads, cookies and cakes from the bakery department, top-quality cheeses and flavorful nuts, as well as gift baskets that combine a variety of foods.

Figis is an organization rich in small, hometown feeling. Established in 1944 in the middle of Wisconsin dairy land, the company has a very down-to-earth philosophy: Sell good gifts at good prices with satisfaction guaranteed.