

VACATION IDEAS

Trip To Houston? You'll Have No Problems

(NAPSA)—More and more travelers are saving more and more money by taking advantage of vacation packages that combine hotel accommodations with access to area attractions.

For example, the Greater Houston Convention & Visitors Bureau has put together getaway packages starting at just $79 per person. They include three-day, two-night hotel stays and tickets to some of the city's premier attractions.

Visitors have their choice of 16 different hotels, and receive complimentary admission to the Houston Museum of Natural Science and the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston. Packages include two-for-one admissions to Space Center Houston, George Ranch Historic Park, Wortham IMAX Theater, Burke Baker Planetarium, Cockrell Butterfly Center and the Museum of Health & Medical Science.

Basic packages also include a 10 percent discount at the Contemporary Arts Museum gift shop, a VIP coupon book for Katy Mills Mall and a VIP tour of the Holocaust Museum Houston. Sales taxes on hotel and other services are also included.

Getaway packages help make Houston a reasonably priced summer destination.

For an additional cost, Houston getaway packages can also be customized to include admissions to Six Flags AstroWorld, WaterWorld, SplashTown and the Houston Zoo. Additional discounts are also available for special theater performances, Houston Astros baseball games, Moody Gardens attractions and much more.

Vacation packages are valid through March 31, 2002. Reservations can be made through Dan Dipert Vacations online at www.traveltohouston.com or by calling 800-433-5335.

To learn more about these fun getaway packages and receive additional information about trips to Houston, call the Greater Houston Convention & Visitors Bureau at 1-800-4-HOUSTON.