Value(able) Vacations

(NAPSA)—In general there are three qualities that families seek in a summer vacation destination: 1. Great weather; 2. Attractions; 3. Stretching the elusive dollar.

With an Orlando getaway, it's possible to enjoy family togetherness without breaking the bank.

One vacation spot containing the natural ingredients of a valuable family getaway is Orlando. With a variety of vacation bargains—often including such value-added items as complimentary breakfast and free transportation to the theme parks—visitors can get a big break in their budget.

Families who want to cash in on the savings can find summer specials with hotel rooms as low as $39 per night in this fun zone. These low prices extend to luxurious resorts, vacation villas and homes with private pools, as well as properties that offer spacious studios and suites.
